

Topic:

School and Education:

Should financial literacy be a required course for graduation?

Introduction

- Financial literacy - ability to understand and manage personal finances effectively.
- includes skills such as budgeting, saving, investing, & managing debt

Topic:

School and Education:

Should financial literacy be a required course for graduation?

Prepares students for real-life financial responsibilities

- Prepares Students for Unexpected Financial Situations
- Teaches Budgeting Skills
- Promotes Responsible Use of Credit and Loans

Topic:

School and Education: Should financial literacy be a required course for graduation?

Promotes economic stability

- Efficient use of public resources
- Stronger consumer confidence
- Enhancing workforce performance

Topic:

School and Education:
Should financial literacy be a required course for graduation?

Encourage Smart Saving and Investment Habits.

- Be alert regarding cash flow
- Prioritise building an emergency fund
- Focus on achieving long term financial stability

Topic:

School and Education: Should financial literacy be a required course for graduation?

Prevent students from facing bankruptcy after graduation.

- Most bankruptcy cases are attributed to personal loans, credit card debt, vehicle financing, and business loans.
- Provide an early understanding of financial management.

Topic:

School and Education: Should financial literacy be a required course for graduation?

Conclusion

- Prepares students for real-life financial responsibilities
- Promotes economic stability
- Encourage Smart Saving and Investment Habits.
- Prevent students from facing bankruptcy after graduation.